

UPDATE: The Baker Free Library will be closed as of 8:00pm, Monday, March 16, until further notice.

For the common good of our town, our state, and the nation, the Baker Free Library has made the difficult, but prudent, decision to close for the immediate future. The Coronavirus (COVID-19) outbreak continues to develop and the Library is taking this step to support the health and safety of the community we serve.

While we must suspend our public services as a community gathering space and your source for information materials, the Library will continue to be present to the community through its online resources. Please explore all that we have to offer through our website. Library staff will be available to assist you with our online materials between 10am and 3pm Tuesday through Saturday.

Please note that you DO NOT need to return the items that you currently have out to the library book drop. Please hold on to your items until we reopen. You will not accrue any overdue fees during this closure.

If you have items on the hold shelf, they will be available to you when the library reopens. You may place reserves on items during this closure; however, they will not be filled until after the library reopens.

Unfortunately, we must cancel all meeting room reservations through April 30. We apologize for this inconvenience. If you have any questions regarding our meeting spaces or any other library inquiries, please contact us.

Thank you for your understanding. The Baker Free Library wishes everyone health and peace during this difficult time.
